

Volunteer Engagement & Communities Committee

The Volunteer Engagement & Communities Committee is where members come together to shape the future of IMA's volunteer experience and global community. If you're someone who thrives on making a real impact, this committee offers a unique opportunity to influence how IMA connects with its members worldwide — helping build a modern, digitally enabled membership that feels locally relevant yet globally connected.

As a committee member, you will play an active role in reimagining future chapter activities, helping cultivate a vibrant community of leadership expertise that drives fresh ideas and meaningful content, and identifying new ways to strengthen volunteer training and professional development. Your insights and ideas will directly shape the programs and experiences that empower volunteers across the organization.

This is also a chance to grow your own leadership skills, collaborate with driven professionals from around the world, and leave a lasting mark on IMA's mission.
